

HOST FAMILY FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

How can I become a host family of an international student at CUSSD?

Become approved by a homestay placement company. You will find a list of companies who have placed students for CUSSD on the following link. You are free to use any of these companies or another of your choice. All students and families must use a company for placements.

Can a student live with a blood relative without going through a company?

Yes, as long as an Affidavit of Relationship with documentation is provided. This is found on the school website: www.christianunified.org > our program > international students > homestay families

What accommodations are required of the homestay family?

Specific requirements are determined through the placement company. Each student and host lists their needs and the placement company matches families and students accordingly.

Will I be reimbursed for my expenses?

Yes, each placement company sets their own rates. Payment is done through the company, not the school.

Who is responsible for the student's transportation to school and other events?

The host family is responsible for transportation as it is covered in the rate of payment set by each company

Will students be from Christian families?

Not all International students are Christians. All students are expected to live by the code of conduct, defined by the CHS/CJHS student handbook, in and out of school. They are to be respectful as they attend chapel each week, and complete work diligently in the bible classes required for graduation.

Whom do I contact to resolve homestay issues?

The placement company you are registered with.

What do I do if a student wants to change families or graduates, and I want another student?

Contact the placement company you are registered with.

Please remember the host family, guardian and students are responsible to report any change of information or placement. You may email jford@christianunified.org
